National Scientific Temper Day - August 20th, 2018

(AIPSN Statement)

In the year 2005, the Indian People's Science Network (IPSN) initiated the National Scientific Temper Day (NSTD) observing 20th August as the National Scientific Temper Day. IPSN, now called AIPSN, is a network of over 5000 scientists and engineers that works towards promoting science, technology, and innovation in India.

The National Scientific Temper Day is observed in honor of the contributions of scientists and engineers who have dedicated their lives to the development of science and technology in India.

The day is celebrated with various events and activities, including lectures, workshops, and exhibitions, to promote science and technology education and awareness.

The National Scientific Temper Day is also an opportunity to recognize the contributions of scientists and engineers who have dedicated their lives to the development of science and technology in India.

The National Scientific Temper Day is an important event in the calendar of activities organized by AIPSN, and it is celebrated with great enthusiasm and participation from scientists and engineers across the country.

The National Scientific Temper Day is a reminder of the importance of science and technology in the development of India, and it is an opportunity to celebrate the contributions of scientists and engineers who have dedicated their lives to the development of science and technology in India.
